Personal Profile Site

The first time I ever codded in HTML was in September 2019. The website was meant to introduce us to HTML code. Not very impressive but I followed the requirements to the letter. We all start somewhere, and this is where I started.